Maintenance and Care

The Luxury Collection is made using proprietary techniques, some of which have been copyrighted pending patent approval. The input materials used are imported, and tested to be environmentally friendly. In addition to the utilization of state-of-the-art machinery, skilled artisans are employed to hand-finish the tile products using the finest chemicals imported from the top Italian labs.

As befits a precious and finely crafted product, care needs to be taken not to damage the surface of the tiles, especially from any kind of sharp instruments or scratching.

Care should be taken that there is no water seepage where these tiles are installed.

Care also has to be taken to protect the tile surface from staining.

Please consult your supplier for the applicability of the different collections in wet areas, as some of the products like LeatherStone and LeatherWall are not suitable for wet areas.

The Luxury Collection may be maintained daily through wiping with a non-abrasive cloth. In the case of the LeatherStone and LeatherWall Collections, ensure that the cloth is dry. For the other Collections, a wet cloth, free from any chemicals, may be employed to clean carefully the surface of the tiles. In the case of the LeatherStone and LeatherWall Collections, we also offer a special Tempesta polish/wax to be used for polishing the tiles once they have been installed on the wall. This polishing process is a simple application of brushing by hand, which may be done once a year to give the product the natural burnished gloss associated with leather.

Laying Instructions

Before starting to install the tiles of The Luxury Collection, it is advisable to check the suitability of the wall which should be sound, clean, dry, and mould-free. It might be necessary to level the wall to remove possible unevenness, and compensate differences in level to obtain a perfectly flat, uniform surface.

To preserve the features of these luxury products over time, it is advisable to avoid direct sunlight exposure and very close contact with heat sources.

Use a professional tile adhesive for wall installations. A regular hand saw for cutting stone tiles may be employed during installation of these tiles. It is important to ensure that the tile adhesive does not touch or stain the surface of the tiles.

Small differences in colour, vein, tone, possible wrinkles or unevenness, cannot be considered as defects, but as natural characteristics of the stone, and the hand-finishing done on the same.
